

COLUMBIA, S. C.

Sunday Morning, September 11, 1870.

"Help Me, Cassius, or I Sink."

We took occasion in yesterday's PHOENIX to express our view of the Grant-Scott-Chamberlain matter. The New York World, which came to us last evening, takes a somewhat similar view of the little help that the Scott-Whittemore party are priding themselves on so greatly. Let the brazen trumpets blow for something when they do vex the air:

"Even—as a not altogether untruthful cynic assures us—as patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel, Grant is the support and citadel to which, in their extremity, the pretended Governors of the South turn. Following in the footsteps of his brother truculence in North Carolina, the Governor of South Carolina sends up a cry for help to Long Branch, and from out the cloudy tabernacle of the Government at that lounging place comes the declaration that 'I never opposed the re-election of Governor Scott, nor spoke disparagingly of him. On the contrary, I only look upon the so-called 'Reform' movement in South Carolina as a device to give the control of the State to the enemies of the party which has supported me, and which supported our armies and maintained the Union.' There needed but this to assure an entire triumph to that true peace and prosperity ticket, made up of a Union and a Confederate soldier, which plants itself against the lawless violence of negro militia, and that monstrous spoliation which has raised the debt of South Carolina from $5,500,000 in 1867 to $14,000,000 in 1870, said violence and spoliation being the only benefits resulting to the State from the administration of the man whom the President now commends for a re-election. Happily that recommendation is a sure death warrant to its recipient. The executive backing floored Holden and will smash Scott."

Bonner, of the New York Ledger, is publishing a series of twelve articles by distinguished United States Senators. The fact has disturbed the pride of the Cincinnati Enquirer to such a degree that it has secured articles from twelve other distinguished men—officials and United States Senators. Here they are: Morton, of Indiana, leads off on "elasticity;" Yates, of Illinois, following on "temperance;" Fenton, of New York, on "stuffed mattresses;" Sumner, of Massachusetts, on "domestic bliss;" Ben. Wade, on "social refinement;" Sherman, of Ohio, on "how to get rich;" U. S. Grant, on "bull pups and donation parties;" B. F. Butler, on "the art of getting up tea spoons and other silver ware;" Collector Bailey, on "the persecution of innocence." The Enquirer man is not to be outdone by the Ledger.

HARD ON MATCH-BOX.—The New Yorker Journal (German) thus alludes to P. Sheridan:

"Sheridan prides himself that, on his march through the Shenandoah Valley, he destroyed numerous mills, dwellings, barns and other buildings. He went with lighted torch and flaming sword through the country of his own people. The Germans destroy nothing, and do not trouble peaceable citizens. General Sheridan will, in King William's camp, learn how a civilized nation carries on war."

The following appointments have been made for Judge Carpenter and General Butler:

Marion C. H., Monday, September 12. Kingstree, Wednesday, September 14. Midway Church, Thursday, Sept. 15. Manning, Friday, September 16. Liberty Hill, Saturday, Sept. 17. Orangeburg C. H., September 19. Barnwell C. H., September 21. Walterboro, Colleton, September 23. White Hall, Colleton, September 24. Beaufort, Monday, September 26.

General Sheridan was kind enough to say to Bismarck that "he could only compare the surrender of Napoleon to that of General Lee." A painful limitation of the range of comparison, indeed! and yet the ass-tute General Sheridan must have seen a resemblance in the two surrenders that nobody else has been able to detect. Napoleon only surrendered himself after a thirty days' war. General Lee surrendered his army after a four years' struggle against the odds of three and four to one. Napoleon was Emperor of a great nation, whose resources were equal to those of his enemy. General Lee was a republican general, who surrendered 15,000 muskets to a force of 250,000, after four years' hard fighting. General Wimpfen surrendered McMahon's army of 120,000 excellent and well armed troops, who were defeated and forced to surrender, though they had the fortifications of Sedan to co-operate with them. These surrenders to an army only twice their number. The Confederates were seldom favored by the odds of only two to one against them. And so, with all these differences, the great Sheridan could only compare the surrender of Napoleon to that of General Lee. Well, he certainly sees what nobody else will see.

Mr. William Jervey, of the law firm of Memminger, Jervey & Pinckney, of Charleston, died a few days ago, at the farm of a kinsman in Virginia. He was formerly Captain of the Washington Light Infantry, and, we believe, went as an officer of that company to Florida during the Indian war.

To the Officers of the Bible Societies and others co-operating with the American Bible Society in South Carolina.

DEAR BRETHREN: Permit me to direct your attention to the following important instructions, from the Secretaries of the American Bible Society, Bible House, Astor Place, New York city:

1. "The Committee on Distribution have instructed us to state that hereafter they will expect all applications for grants of books by auxiliaries, and so far as practicable all others, to receive the endorsement of the Agent from whose State the requests are made, together with full information of the facts which enforce each case. They are especially desirous to know the extent of destitution, the efforts made by applicants to help themselves, or to pay in part for books received from our Depository, or to contribute to the cause the number and character of the population to be supplied, and, in fine, all that may assure the committee of the propriety of these requests."

2. Persons needing Bibles and Testaments for Sabbath Schools, or distribution among all readers alike, must apply to the officers of the Bible Society, in the city or court house town, or to branch Bible societies or Bible committees in the County where they reside; and, if they cannot be supplied, the officers will please request me to procure books for their Society, to meet the demand, from the American Bible Society.

3. Persons in writing to me to procure donations of plain books direct from the parent society must state the number needed and give full and distinct directions for forwarding. Sign all applications officially. Whatever they wish to say to me besides their requests for books must be written on a separate sheet.

4. To meet the demand for the word of God in this State, the Bible societies and friends of the Bible cause are earnestly requested to increase their efforts to raise funds for gratuitous work, and especially to forward, without unnecessary delay, all funds now in hand, or readily collected for books or on donation account, to Andrew L. Taylor, Assistant Treasurer, American Bible Society, or to me as State Agent, and I will forward. Since the war this Society sent to auxiliaries and other benevolent institutions in South Carolina over 61,000 volumes of the Holy Scriptures, mostly as donations for distribution among white and colored persons, and every patriot and Christian should esteem it a pleasure and a privilege to contribute to the funds of this truly Christian Bible Society.

5. Collections from pastors of churches, and contributions of any amount from all friends of the Bible, will be thankfully received and duly acknowledged.

6. Please address me at Columbia, S. C., before the close of each month, and it will afford me pleasure to serve you. Yours, truly, E. A. BOLLES, Agent American Bible Society, for S. C. COLUMBIA, S. C., September 8, 1870.

All papers in South Carolina, friendly, please copy.

Writing from the battle field, a correspondent of the London Telegraph relates some frightful atrocities on the Prussian wounded at Werth by several Turcos and Zouaves. One miscreant, lying with a broken head, boasted that the wounded had had their tongues cut out; and a boy of sixteen first robbed a Prussian soldier and then gouged out his eyes. One and twenty of these wretches had been shot by order of a court martial.

A GOOD SYMPTOM.—Secretaries Boutwell and Fish voted against the recognition of the French Republic. Perhaps they would like to have an empire in America, so that the one might be called Duke Greenbacks, and the other Prince Red Herring.

The Princess Salma-Salm has passed her examination in surgery, and is now on the staff of the Prussian Surgeon General as Directress of Camp Hospitals. Among the German women generally, the desire to serve in the war is so great that many of them have been discovered at Stettin, dressed in male attire in order to pass muster. At one station in Berlin over 100 women have thus far presented themselves, begging to be made useful to the cause in some way.

STREET CLEANING IN NEW YORK.—There are 241 miles of paved streets in New York city, while the amount of street cleaning done each week is about 534 miles. It thus appears that some of the streets are cleaned several times a week. The report of the health department states that there has been a marked decrease in the amount of disease in localities which have been the most thoroughly cleaned.

PHOENIXIANA.—Mr. E. C. Plummer is about to work a revolution in the manufacture of gas. He has invented a machine which, by the use of gasoline, a beautiful, clear light is produced, and at a very low figure—about one dollar a thousand feet. As soon as some little details are perfected, the machine will be publicly exhibited. We congratulate Mr. Plummer on the apparently complete success of his invention.

It is said of Judge James L. Orr—the prodigal son of South Carolina—that he has expressed an intense admiration for the Prussian tactics—this putting of 240,000 men against 120,000 is what he believes in. Of course, Judge Orr is for Prussia, just so long as Prussia has the stronger battalions. Col. R. F. Graham agrees with Judge Orr.

We are pleased to learn that Dr. M. R. Clark, of this County, the inventor of an improved cotton tie, has arranged to put his ties on the market. We hope the doctor will reap the fruits of his inventive talents.

On the occasion of the St. Louis Agricultural Fair, premiums amounting to $5,000 for cotton have been offered by the manufacturers, merchants and jobbers of St. Louis. A sweepstake of $1,000 is offered for "the best bale of cotton raised in the United States in 1870, embracing all classes except sea island." This fair begins October 3, and is to continue six days.

President Grant declines an invitation to assist at the soldiers' re-union in Iowa for three reasons: First, that the distance is so great; second, that his visit to the West is so recent; and, third, that he has previous engagements at Long Branch for about the same date. The pitcher was broken when he borrowed it; it was whole when he returned it; and he never had it all.

The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel notices the arrival of three more cars of the "Green Line," from St. Louis; one loaded with grain in bulk for Messrs. J. M. This speaks well for the energy and perseverance exhibited by the officers of the Green Line and Superintendent Johnson.

The attention of the reader is respectfully invited to the advertisement of Bradford & Co., in another column. They are undoubtedly selling the best remedies out for the diseases they are recommended for. BRADFORD'S FEMALE REGULATOR and DR. If the testimony of aged persons who have tested the vitality and soothing properties of LIPPMANN'S GREAT GERMAN BITTERS is worthy of credence, they are decidedly preferable to any of the unmedicated stimulants or combinations of drugs and alcohol ordinarily prescribed to cheer the spirits and strengthen the systems of persons of an advanced age. These bitters produce no unnatural excitement, and these effects are of a soothing and strengthening, and they counteract to a great degree the depressing influence which the decay of the bodily energies has upon the animal spirits; it is, therefore, that it is acknowledged universally, that Lippmann's Bitters are cordial for the aged.
